Active at Home

Low to High Intensity Workout Videos
to Support Everyone's Needs

IMPORTANT - PLEASE READ

We wanted to let you know that our 'Active at Home' resources were collated for use during the COVID pandemic in 2020.
You can, of course, continue to use them, but we are not currently monitoring this content and the The APF have not endorsed them.

For endorsed programmes, please head here...

Endorsed Programmes

Before you try any of the video workouts below, please be sure to follow the instructors guidance & read the TMM leaflets for pregnant and postnatal women.

Being active in pregnancy is safe for most women, but some may be experiencing conditions or symptoms where there are additional considerations. Please comple the Get Active for Pregnancy Questionnaire (GAQ-P) before engaging in any activities.

Is it safe for me?

When deciding which activity you may like to try, it is important to consider your current activity level. Guidance provided by the UK Chief Medical Officers advises healthy pregnant women, with uncomplicated pregnancies, who are already active to keep going but to listen to their bodies and adapt, while women who are new to activity should start gradually.

We use cookies on our website to see how you interact with it. By accepting, you agree to our use of such cookies. See Privacy Policy

Cookie Settings Accept

To help you find suitable activities to try at home, we have worked with a panel of experts to review and select a range of workout content. We have stated if an activity may be considered low, moderate or vigorous intensity, and if it is recommended for women who are already active or new to activity. If you have any questions about whether a particular activity is safe for you, and/or you suffer discomfort while taking part, please get in touch with your healthcare professional before continuing with the activity.

When to STOP & SEEK ADVICE

If you experience any of the following symptoms we recommend you STOP and seek advice.

- Vaginal bleeding
- Abdominal pain
- Regular and painful contractions
- Amniotic fluid leakage
- Dyspnea before exertion
- Persistent excessive shortness of breath that does not resolve with rest
- Persistent dizziness or faintness that does not resolve on rest
- Headache
- Chest pain
- Muscle weakness that affects balance
- Calf pain or swelling
- Severe pelvic girdle pain that do not improve within a week or two, or interfere with normal day-to-day living

If you're interested to find out more, head to our Frequently Asked Questions

Pregnancy Sta... Workout Type Intensity Level Duration

Clear F

We use cookies on our website to see how you interact with it. By accepting, you agree to our use of such cookies. See Privacy Policy

Prenatal Mat Pilates

Suitable for: Antenatal, Active, Inactive

Intensity: Low-Moderate

Duration: 30 Minutes

Instructor: Ten Health & Fitness

Postnatal Core Workout (Taster session)

Suitable for: Postnatal, Active

Intensity: Moderate

Duration: 20 Minutes

Instructor: MummyFIT

Episode 2: Pregnancy Yoga Series

Suitable for: Antenatal, Active, Inactive

Intensity: Low-Moderate

Duration: 10 Minutes

Instructor: Katy Appleton

Episode 4: Pregnancy Yoga Series

Suitable for: Antenatal, Active, Inactive

Intensity: Low-Moderate

Duration: 10 Minutes

Instructor: Katy Appleton

We use cookies on our website to see how you interact with it. By accepting, you agree to our use of such cookies. See Privacy Policy

Episode 3: Pregnancy Yoga Series

Suitable for: Antenatal, Active, Inactive

Intensity: Low-Moderate

Duration: 10 Minutes

Instructor: Katy Appleton

Trimester 3 Workout - Preparing For Birth

Suitable for: Antenatal, Active, Inactive

Intensity: Low

Duration: 40 Minutes

Instructor: Jane Wake

Load More...

The 'Not So Small' Print

Definitions +

Disclaimers +

Acknowledgements +

Please note that the sharing of information or inclusion of a link to a third-party website or app on this webpage does not constitute a contract, partnership, endorsement or other arrangement with this third-party or their content, products or services. You may be required to pay a fee or subscription in the future so please read their Terms and Conditions carefully. Please also read the following disclaimer before clicking on any third party website linked to from this webpage.

A panel of antenatal and postnatal experts will periodically review information and content for this page, which may then be updated. We welcome comments from users, so please get in touch with feedback.

We use cookies on our website to see how you interact with it. By accepting, you agree to our use of such cookies. See Privacy Policy

Back to TMM Home

Back to TMM - Mums

To APF Site

About The APF

Supporting women to stay active throughout pregnancy and beyond, by providing expertise & advice, changing culture & challenging policy.

Terms & Conditions
GDPR & Privacy Policy

Funded by

THE NATIONAL LOTTERY

SPORT ENGLAND

Keep Updated!

Sign up to our Newsletter

Explore

Are you pregnant?

Have you had your baby?
Are you postnatal?

Fitness, Sport & Healthcare Professionals

PLEASE NOTE - Where referring to 'women' and 'mothers', this should be taken to include people who do not identify as female but who are pregnant. Similarly, where the term 'parents' is used, this should be taken to include anyone who has main responsibility for caring for a baby.

Copyright - 2025 by The Active Pregnancy Foundation
Registered Charity Number - 1190780

We use cookies on our website to see how you interact with it. By accepting, you agree to our use of such cookies. See Privacy Policy